TIPS

- There is no right or wrong way to do this! The most important thing is for you to be able to tell your story.
- Invite a caregiver or partner to help you complete this worksheet
- Use different colors and shapes for different symptoms or issues

EXAMPLE

Your story is unique and specific to you, so your worksheet will look different from anyone else's. But here is an example to get you started:

On the timeline, it helps to label the horizontal line so that the time period is clear. You can make notes about what happened, and feel free to use colors or shapes to note certain events.

On the body, it helps to make notes about what sensations you are feeling. Be creative - use colors, shapes, or anything else that might help someone else understand how you are feeling. You can even cut out a picture and tape or glue it on.
